

Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers

TENT TALK

APT MODERATOR'S MESSAGE By Ross Blount

Post Conference -- December, 2006

We have a story to tell...and an experience to be shared.

That is the reminder that Rick Ufford-Chase gave us at our annual tentmaker conference in September. In his two years as moderator of the General Assembly, Rick has seen the need for tentmaking in the 21st century missional church. He challenged us to connect with groups like New Immigrant Fellowship where many pastors are tentmakers by necessity and there is an organic interrelationship of church, community, and workplace. Rick challenged us to connect with college students and seminarians...sharing with them what it is like to be in ministry in both workplace and church...to visit a college or seminary and issue a challenge like this:

"God's Vocation: Becoming Leaders for a New Kind of Church..."

What does a vocation in the missional church look like? The church of the future is likely to depend far less on full-time, professional ministers and far more on lay leaders in the church who are supported by pastors who feel a call to ministry in the church and to work in the secular world. Come spend a morning hearing the stories of pastors who are "bivocational." This seminar will help you to explore your own possibilities for discerning a call to make disciples in the world and support the church while developing your passion for other work in the world.

What a joy it was to learn from Rick about a variety of groups that are on the fringe if the institutional church, but are on the cutting edge of its mission.

We in the Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers know what it is like to be a cutting-edge ministry out on the fringe. Over the years APT has nurtured the tentmaker Vision...a vision of shared ministry, a vision of the joy in answering God's call to minister in both church and workplace, a vision of shifting local church finances from pastor salary to mission outreach, a vision of tentmakers helping tentmakers thrive in this unique form of ministry. (See article in the June, 2006 Tent Talk documenting this vision with our nationwide study of tentmakers and tentmaker churches.)

Now we have an opportunity to share this vision in new and exciting ways. Future issues of Tent Talk will explore Rick's challenges and identify opportunities to get involved in your own area.

Post Script: At our business meeting we voted to make APT memberships run from annual conference to annual conference. PLEASE renew your membership if you haven't done so already. Thanks!

A Rocky Mountain Treat

Twenty two gathered at Highlands Presbyterian Camp and Retreat Center September 20-22 for the 20th Annual Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers Conference. The three days were packed with challenges and opportunities as participants were led through our theme of "Integrity—The Life and Special Gift of Tentmakers" by author and former Presbytery executive, Steve Doughty. Weaving between those sessions were Bible studies, led by Zane Buxton Synod of the Rocky Mountains executive; a panel discussion featuring Deborah Fortel from the office of the General Council, Dan Saperstein, Presbytery Executive of the Peaks and Plains and Rick Ufford-Chase, immediate past Moderator of the General Assembly; and worship services led by Virginia and Fred Bunning, who also served as the primary conference planners. There was plenty of story sharing among the tentmakers who gathered. And, of course, at anything Presbyterian, there was a business meeting and there were meals at round tables where more discussions could take place.

There were familiar faces present as well as some new ones. It was particularly pleasant to have Stephanie Brown join us from the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Phil Aspinall flew "across the pond" from the United Kingdom and added his typical zest to the gathering. Then of course there were the tentmakers whose "tents" included everything from farming to realty; investment counseling to teaching; medicine to jazz playing—and more. Such is the diversity within the APT.

In this issue of Tent Talk, you will find Conference Capsules of topics that were discussed, challenges that were issued and responses that were generated at the annual conference. It is our hope that you might catch a flavor of what transpired. But even more, we hope that they will peak your curiosity to the point where you will want to set aside time to attend next year's annual conference in Portland, Oregon.

Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers

Draft of the Minutes of the Annual Meeting
September 22, 2006

Highlands Presbyterian Camp and Retreat Center -
Allenspark, Colorado

Present: Fred and Virginia Bunning, Ross Blount, Phil Aspinall, Steve Doughty, Rick Ufford-Chase, Don West, John Hasenjaeger, Charles Ayers, Ralph B. Wright, Joyce and Russ Jolly, Bill and Lois Dodge, Jeff Scott

Meeting (10:40AM) was opened with prayer by Ross.

Minutes of November 6, 2005 Conference held at St. Mary of the Lake, Mundelein, Illinois approved with following corrections/additions:

- Corrections to addresses on rear of minutes:
Place a dot/period between first and last name on John's e-mail address. Correct address for Russ and Joyce Jolly is P.O. Box 87.
- Added/clarified at bottom of page: "Voted to empower the Executive Committee to approve the Covenant between APT and the National Ministries Division of the GA Council of the PCUSA" - inserted then approved.

Review of packet materials for this conference by Fred:

- Brochure with date of next conference
- Minutes from Mundelein
- Bylaws which were changed in Bangor.
- Dues sheets
- Financial report 1. 2005 report 2. 2006 report Jan - Sept 15
- Copy of Covenant draft NMD of GAC and APT

Financial/Treasurer's report

- Fred reviewed newsletters and brochures sent together.
- 3 - 2006 editions of Tent Talk published/sent @ $560
- No conference fees show up for 2005 on yr to yr summary - registrations went through NASSAM. We paid deposit, received $1000 back as reimbursement.

- Dues note: We need to encourage paid up membership. No one has been dunned yet. Polite reminders will be sent.

Nominating Committee Report

Motion to authenticate nominating committee as past moderators Bill, John Fred, Charlie. Approved.

- Nominating report: Slate put forward - Ross ready to serve as Moderator, Jeff Scott as Moderator elect/Secretary, Fred Bunning - Treasurer, Steve Hammond - "Tent Talk". Approved by acclamation.

Covenant with National Ministries division:

- Question as to whether signed and dated? Yes 12/3 2005-2008.
- Motion: To ratify the Covenant between APT and N M D effective dates Dec 3, 2005-2008. Seconded/Approved.
- Reminder to follow up with Stephanie Brown/Cumberland Presbyterians regarding outreach/networking.

APT Activities:

- John - reminder on need to firm up plans for theme etc. for next year based in part on some reflection/rethinking from year's leadership and participants - Thanks to suggestions from Phil Aspinall and Rick Ufford-Chase.
- Bill - scholarships? We need to think about immigrant congregations. Finding funding. It was suggested that Exec. Committee take on these items.
- Phil: emphasize how do Presbyteries and Session reach larger numbers? (Intl. Conference Center Sheraton? Lawrence)
- Suggestion: Someone go to next Immigrant (Congregation/Fellowship?) Conference. Charles Ayers to contact Angel Suarez.
- Suggestion: APT members approach respective Presbyteries with immigrant fellowship about sponsoring attendees.
- Suggestion: APT members approach young adults about doing 1 day workshop etc. re. getting onto various campuses via campus chaplains such as Charles @ Sterling (sp?) and Hastings, Sharon Hasenjaeger @ Portland, Jeff @ Bangor, Bill connecting with Barbara Wheeler @ Auburn.

(Continued on page 3)

(Continued from page 2)

- Charles to coordinate putting together basic info package...including generic outline for such an "event" on College (or Seminary? Campus). Suggested that this could go in Tent Talk.
- Rick suggested and drafted the following language to be included in promotional thrusts above as follows - thanks Rick:

"God's Vocation: Becoming Leaders for a New Kind of Church."

What does a vocation in the missional church look like? The church of the future is likely to depend far less on full-time, professional ministers and far more on lay leaders in the church who are supported by pastors who feel a call to ministry in the church and to work in the secular world. Come spend a morning hearing the stories of pastors who are "bi-vocational." This seminar will help you to explore your own possibilities for discerning a call to make disciples in the world and support the church while developing your passion for other work in the world. (Sponsored by the Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers)

- Rick is going to PCCCA Conference in Nov. and will challenge them to embrace connecting more with groups like APT in a tangible way with Jeff as contact person
- Question about staying in touch with NASSAM other than 2005 no regular contact noted.

2008 Conference:

- After discussion on rationale - suggested Dubuque Seminary College as appropriate site given both seminary and college setting. Jeff Bullock to be contacted by Rick via e mail from APT. (Question: Is this regarding 2008 conference or 1 day workshop?)
- Bunnings to contact Dave King with idea of possibly hosting at Dubuque and forwarding insertion composed by Rick (above)

"Tent Talk":

- Will be sent to 550 usual including 158 Presbytery-related personnel.
- There will be the option included in the next issue for changing over to electronic delivery.
- For tracking/update purposes, the label will include membership status and date like magazines.

- Those who sign up will be sent Tent Talk for one year. After a year one must become a member/subscriber or be removed from the list.

The post-Conference issue will include:

- Capsules on the Conference and a membership list
- Unapproved minutes
- 1 Tent Story - Don West?
- 2007 conference date and bullets
- Scholarship plug
- Acknowledgement to Cumberland Presbyterians
- Deadline - Nov. 1

Website:

- Ralph suggested inexpensive website contact in Northwest.
- Ralph to obtain contact info for this website, then contact Bill so both 'New Yorkers' can work together.
- Ross to be back in touch with Ed. Hilton who was at last contact willing to be webmaster and stay on top of all this.

Seminary Initiative(s):

- Discussion: The present state of 2 Plans (1. APT-initiated and 2. Denominational-see 2005 minutes) which emerged last year outlined/discussed (see 2005 minutes). Both, for various reasons, appear 'out of the picture for now'.
- Discussion emphasized appreciation for the idea, vision, and initiative (including grant writing/proposal) but concerns expressed over potential lack of "a bang for the buck" and the reality of no one available/willing to head this up in Amy's absence.
- Discussion - related option: Clint McCoy's (former Presbytery Exec. Northern N.Y., now Synod NE Exec.) vision for fulltime interested ministers learning to be entrepreneurial. The proposal is based at grass roots (Congregational and Presbytery) levels. Funded by a form of revolving loan. Clint wanted feedback got feedback from Mark (Chicago) working on group of pastors.

(Continued on page 6)

Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers Directory

Moderator	Ross Blount allerton-blount@yahoo.com 405 N. Central Allerton, IA 50008-8606 641-873-4242
Past Moderator	Amy Isbell Hanschen amyih@austin.rr.com
Moderator Elect	Jeff Scott jeffins@prexar.com RR 1 Box 440 Anson, ME 04911 207-696-5496
Treasurer and 2006 Conference Coordinator	Fred Bunning fcv1bunning@juno.com 1035 SW 20 th Loveland, CO 80537 970-667-4853
Member at Large	Don West donaldjoseph-west@hotmail.com P.O. Box 2684 Thomasville, GA 31799-2684 229-226-2657
G.A. Liaison	Deborah Fortel dfortel@ctr.pcusa.org Office of Ministry Support/COM 100 Witherspoon-M003 Louisville, KY 40202-1396 502-569-5381
Board of Pensions Contact Person	Philip Gehman pgehman@pensions.org Board of Pensions 2000 Market St. Philadelphia, PA 19103-3298 800-773-7752 ext. 7482
Tent Talk Editor	Steven Hammond hammond502@charter.net 155 Gilchrist Alpena, MI 49707 989-356-3381

Membership List

The following persons are on our treasurer's list as dues paying members of APT prior to the Fall Conference. The year following the name reflects the year in which dues were last received—(we think).

Charles Ayers	2005
Ross Blount	2006
Stephanie Brown	2006
Fred & Virginia Bunning	2006
Bill & Lois Dodge	2005
Jack Depond	2005
Phil Gehman	2006
Steven Hammond	2006
John Hasenjaeger	2006
Fred Hiss	2005
Russ & Joyce Jolly	2005
Robert Kemper	2006
John King	2006
Charles Pye	2005
Jeff Scott	2005
Roger Shervington	2006
Jane Tetsuka	2005
Don West	2006
Ralph Wright	2006
Greg Zurakowski	2005

If you think that your name should be on this list or feel that there may be an error, please contact Fred Bunning.

Membership dues are now due for 2007 as annual membership will run from annual conference date to annual conference date.

“Tent Talk”

Tent Talk is the “official” publication of the Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers. It is published when there is sufficient material to complete an issue and has a history of being distributed to members of APT, to Presbyteries and to almost anyone who has ever expressed an interest in learning more about tentmaking ministry. If you receive this and wonder why, it may be that you are or were in one of the above categories. In an effort to manage costs and not clog the mails, we are enclosing a post card with this issue to help update our mailing list. If you are not an active APT member your response is necessary in order to continue to receive Tent Talk. If you are not a current member of APT and we do not receive a response from you, your name will be deleted from our mailing list. All APT members and interested parties may choose to receive Tent Talk through electronic mail or regular mail with regular mail being the default method. Please indicate your preference on the card. Thank you!

Conference Capsule

Our annual gathering opened with greetings from Virginia Bunning who, along with Fred Bunning have been the on-site organizers of the event. Greetings from Highlands Presbyterian Camp and Retreat Center were extended. Nestled in the Rocky Mountains, this conference center provided a gracious staff, comfortable rooms, and fantastic vistas. The folks of this Presbytery certainly have a treasure.

Zane Buxton led the first of two Bible studies concerning “Integrity and Where We Live” drawing upon Paul’s second (and probably third) letter to the Corinthians acknowledging that maintaining integrity in the face of suffering, either personal or communal, will always be a challenge, but within that experience there can be growth and blessing. There will be times of joy and times of disappointment, times when we are called upon to lead and times when we are called upon to step back and resist trying to fix everything. The challenge, of course, is in knowing which course of action is most appropriate.

Steve Doughty provided a creative opportunity for conference participants to “tell their stories”. Instead of the familiar “go around the circle”, the group was invited to share experiences where we had a chance to see integrity or a chance to live integrity in our lives as tentmakers. Stories of how it is in world in which we live certainly help us focus on both the cost of integrity and the strength that it brings. There were stories how congregations stepped forward to claim their role in ministry. Accounts of individuals who paid a heavy price for their honesty and integrity. Reports of growth and learning as persons within our group gained new insights from the experiences of life within the parish.

The segment concluded with the question what we found most “wonder”-full in our call to tentmaking ministry. The responses were both familiar and new: “Freedom!” “More for Mission!”, “Can you DO that?” “Being in places that the church is not.” “Being intentional”, “Each fed the other.” “Gadflies”.

Thursday

Drawing from his book, Steve Doughty guided the Thursday sessions as we continued our discussions along the topic of “Integrity: Grounding—Mystery—Crunch”. Our starting point was the recognition that integrity involves more than personal honesty or truthfulness. To live with integrity is to be “complete” “whole” “intact”—to be without corruption, sound and upright. This is to be our grounding principle regarding integrity.

At the same time, as human beings, we find ourselves living in the midst of mystery. There are many things beyond our comprehension. But the call is not necessarily to solve the mystery as it is to live the mystery. Two quotes: “Religions begin as a slave to mystery, not a manifesto of truth” (Terry Tempest Williams in Leap) “The older I get, the less I know” (an 80 year old Presbyterian farmer) helped frame the discussion. When asked to consider where we have experienced mystery responses included:

- In the ordinary things that we’re asked to do.
- Flowers
- In simple acts of kindness
- In the planting of seeds, not knowing what will happen, and sometimes discovering how it made a difference years later.
- In sitting with the dying, being with a breathing being in one moment and a non-breathing being the next.
- In places of sacredness.
- In seeing images from the Hubble telescope
- In the kindness of people who have suffered or have been persecuted.
- In the contrasts of life.

Steve spoke of the importance of living in mystery as he related a story in which a group of Presbyterians were at a conference in which a soloist sang the hymn “Spirit” while another danced to the music. An Anglican in the group noted afterward that this was a perfect example of mystery. He went on to say that it was his experience that Presbyterians have a wonderful, powerful intellectual minds and that we should never give that up—but we need to recover the mystery. Tentmakers are among those caught up in the dance around them and we are among those who might be able to help folks live in mystery.

But lest we begin to think too highly of ourselves, we were reminded that living in mystery should lead us to a sense of humility. There is not much room for those who live with an “I have it right—you don’t” attitude. When we look to the Bible and the collection of stories contained within, we are continually confronted by fragile characters who were often wrong. Yet, these are the stories which helped define their relationship with God and led them into experiences of faithfulness.

We concluded the morning session with “crunch”—the issues, pressures and harsh realities that disrupt us. Again the responses reflect a litany of conditions that are common to us all:

- Cultural Christianity
- Appeals to fear
- Financial struggles
- Biting off more than we can chew
- Institutional inertia
- Transitional pressures
- Compartmentalized lives.

Labeling the crunch provided a transition into the second of Zane Buxton’s Bible studies which dwelt on the story

(Continued on page 6)

(Continued from page 3) Minutes

- Ross to make contact with Clint to see if APT involvement is welcome. If so Jeff (at Synod 10/19-21) Bill, and Ralph (being nearby) have offered to meet with Clint as applicable.
- Question/clarification as to how/whether Deborah Fortel and denominational efforts to find pastors might be connected with Clint's idea.

Other business:

- Tentmaking CD's: Suggested that these be sent to seminaries doing field placement via Deborah.
- Suggestion for other non-denominational seminaries: Consensus that we wait and see how the above effort does first.

Prayer and closing 12:15PM: Moved, seconded, followed with prayer.

(Continued from page 5) Conference Capsules

of Esther. Esther was one who faced the issues of being a political pawn, of dealing with clever enemies, of engaging in religious compromise, and of being called to stand upright during a critical time—"just such a time as this".

Drawing from his book, Steve Doughty guided the Thursday sessions as we continued our discussions along the topic of "Integrity: Grounding—Mystery—Crunch". Our starting point was the recognition that integrity involves more than personal honesty or truthfulness. To live with integrity is to be "complete" "whole" "intact"—to be without corruption, sound and upright. This is to be our grounding principle regarding integrity.

At the same time, as human beings, we find ourselves living in the midst of mystery. There are many things beyond our comprehension. But the call is not necessarily to solve the mystery as it is to live the mystery. Two quotes: "Religions begin as a slave to mystery, not a manifesto of truth" (Terry Tempest Williams in Leap) "The older I get, the less I know" (an 80 year old Presbyterian farmer) helped frame the discussion. When asked to consider where we have experienced mystery responses included:

- In the ordinary things that we're asked to do.
- Flowers
- In simple acts of kindness
- In the planting of seeds, not knowing what will happen, and sometimes discovering how it made a difference years later.
- In sitting with the dying, being with a breathing being in one moment and a non-breathing being the next.
- In places of sacredness.
- In seeing images from the Hubble telescope

- In the kindness of people who have suffered or have been persecuted.
- In the contrasts of life.

Steve spoke of the importance of living in mystery as he related a story in which a group of Presbyterians were at a conference in which a soloist sang the hymn "Spirit" while another danced to the music. An Anglican in the group noted afterward that this was a perfect example of mystery. He went on to say that it was his experience that Presbyterians have a wonderful, powerful intellectual minds and that we should never give that up—but we need to recover the mystery. Tentmakers are among those caught up in the dance around them and we are among those who might be able to help folks live in mystery.

But lest we begin to think too highly of ourselves, we were reminded that living in mystery should lead us to a sense of humility. There is not much room for those who live with an "I have it right—you don't" attitude. When we look to the Bible and the collection of stories contained within, we are continually confronted by fragile characters who were often wrong. Yet, these are the stories which helped define their relationship with God and led them into experiences of faithfulness.

We concluded the morning session with "crunch"—the issues, pressures and harsh realities that disrupt us. Again the responses reflect a litany of conditions that are common to us all:

- Cultural Christianity
- Appeals to fear
- Financial struggles
- Biting off more than we can chew
- Institutional inertia
- Transitional pressures
- Compartmentalized lives.

The Thursday afternoon session began with a panel discussion featuring Deborah Fortel, GA Mission Council, Dan Saperstein, PE of Plains and Peaks, and Rick Ufford-Chase, immediate past moderator of GA

Deb was armed with figures: 48% of our congregations have 100 members or less. 25% of PCUSA churches have a membership of 50 or less. The number of congregations of 100 or less is growing and the number of congregations over 500 is shrinking.

There are an increasing number of seminary graduates expecting to serve as paid, full time professional clergy and a decreasing number of churches who will be able to meet those expectations.

Dan noted that the church is in a transitional time when the previous structures of having programs and staff and support from the top down is being replaced by congregations having to build from the bottom up as they find a passion for ministry at the local level.

He noted that "professional ministry" is really a term of the 18th–20th centuries and a transition will take place in the 21st century. The call will and in some cases already is,

(Continued on page 7)

PARISH PASTOR NEEDED FOR NEW PARISH MODEL

North Coast Presbyterian Parish (NCP)
Presbytery of the Redwoods

NCP involves 11 small Presbyterian congregations, centered around Eureka, California. We are creating a Parish Pastor model for our Southern cluster of churches - Legget, Garberville, Scotia and Fortuna. This cluster of four small churches is located 5 hours north of San Francisco among rural towns, near the ocean and surrounded by redwood trees.

We want to strengthen our small congregations and explore ways to revitalize and redevelop them. We need an energetic and team-building pastor, with an entrepreneurial spirit and a passion for small churches. This individual is expected to be a full participant, working with the Southern Cluster Steering Committee and church leadership in the four churches. He or she will provide essential services that strengthen, guide, develop and support the ministries of these four congregations.

This is a volunteer, start-up position for one year with an option to extend for another year. At the present time we are reaching out to retired clergy, Tentmakers, Certified Christian Educators, or Certified Lay Pastors. This is not a Called position - but may become one. We will look seriously at any applicant with the right mixture of experience, skills and qualifications.

Housing and utilities are provided and professional expenses are covered. We also offer a $200 monthly stipend and moving expenses up to $2,500. Questions about the position should be conveyed to Rev. Tim Doty by phone at 707-825-8451 or by email at arcprestim@humboldt1.com. Our administrative assistant, Montanna Jones, will be working closely with our hiring team and will send, upon request, a job description, a list of benefits, and a brief description of the congregations involved. She can be reached at 707-268-8567 and her email is montanna@yahoo.com.

(Continued from page 6)

Conference Capsules

not to have a minister in every church but to have ministry in every church. Ministry teams, commissioned lay pastors, and bi-vocational leaders will play a pivotal role in making that transition. This should not be seen as a sign of weakness or failure, but as a pathway that will lead to effective ministry throughout the church.

Rick presented his challenges to the group, based upon his observations as he has traveled throughout the country and the world during his two years as moderator. Energy for the next generation of the church will come from the margins—from those who are interested in building a movement rather than maintaining an institution. They are passionate-not partisan.

The next generation will be “border crossers”—they will be multi-cultural and multi-lingual. They will be suspicious of “pat answers” and will be interested more in the radical living of the gospel than in maintaining a building that is used primarily one morning a week. They will be willing, even anxious to participate in projects that have meaning-authenticity and ambiguity.

APT should be looking for partnerships with other emerging groups within the church such as The New Immigrant Fellowship, Dubuque and San Francisco Seminaries, the Young Adult Volunteers.

He suggested that future conferences might be reach beyond being a support group for current members but a rallying point for those who are interesting in organizing around the task of creating ministry in every church.

In reflecting on the panelist’s observations, it was noted that there are challenges and hurdles to overcome if we are to move forward effectively.

- Congregations who seek to maintain “family chapels” will likely not last.
- The “clergy union” will need to be challenged to incorporate alternative styles of ministry.
- Seminaries will need to be encouraged to be more flexible in residency requirements.
- Bi-vocational ministry will need to be presented as a viable option for 2nd career seminarians.
- Current clergy will need to be supported if there is a desire to learn or be trained for a 2nd skill or career.
- Congregations who are beginning the search process for new leadership should be challenged to think in terms of church ministry rather than simply replacing a minister.

Tentmaking ministry should be considered a viable option in terms of pastoral leadership and ministry style. A congregation should not consider this style of ministry because it may provide for less expensive pastors, but because there is a desire to do ministry—to be a ministry in new and different ways—ways in which there will need to be expanded responsibility and opportunity on the part of both pastors and congregations.

Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers

1600 W. Chisholm
Alpena, MI 49707

Membership Form for the Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip Code _____

(For Individual Members) Church Position _____

Denominational Affiliation _____

Your Tent _____

For Institutional Members Designated Representative _____

Enclosed Annual Membership _____$50

Please make checks payable to the Association of Presbyterian Tentmakers

Mail to : Fred Bunning, 1035 SW 20th, Loveland, CO 80537